

An Organized Approach to Managing Your Property and Addressing Resource Concerns

Erosion? Weeds? Animal Pests? Muddy Areas?

The solutions for these resource concerns, as well as many others, are included in FREE Conservation Plans for residential, equestrian or residential/equestrian properties.

- Mission RCD's Certified Conservation Planner will come out and tour your property with you and discuss any resource concerns you have.
- A Conservation Plan will be developed specifically for your property and will include Best Management Practices that will help manage your property and natural resource concerns.
- When the Conservation Plan is complete, the Conservation Planner will carefully go over it with you and answer any questions that you may have.
- This service is completely free, voluntary and part of an ongoing effort to work with property owners and managers to minimize existing and potential problems on their unique properties.

For more information about this FREE service, please contact Bethany Principe at beth@missionrcd.org, (760) 728-1332 or at 1588 S. Mission Road, Suite 100, Fallbrook, CA 92028.

Please turn the page over to see if your property is in the Residential and Equestrian Program Area.

Residential and Equestrian Property Outreach Program Project Area - The San Luis Rey Watershed

The San Luis Rey Watershed encompasses several unincorporated areas of San Diego County including Bonsall, Warner Springs, and most of Fallbrook (the middle and southern portions) and Valley Center (the middle and northern portions). If you own or manage residential, equestrian or residential/equestrian property in the San Luis Rey watershed and are interested in learning about how to manage your property's resources and control any resource concerns, please contact Bethany Principe for a FREE Conservation Plan for your property. If you are unsure if your property is in the San Luis Rey watershed, Bethany will be happy to tell you in which watershed your property is located.

